

Angela Brumley-Shelton has been the Coordinator of the Community Health Equity and Education program at Lexington-Fayette County Health Dept. (LFCHD) since 2008. She is a Certified Tobacco Treatment Specialist, and oversees the agency's tobacco cessation and control program. She holds a M.A. in Health Communication from New Mexico State University and a MPH with a concentration in Health Promotion from the University of KY.

Currently the program at LFCHD is focusing on education and policy change to reduce pediatric exposure to third hand smoke, workplace cessation, and the rapid changes e-cigarettes are bringing to public health. Angela specializes in group cessation, curriculum design, and interactive trainings about addiction and other health behavior-related challenges.
